FocusUp for Canvas

A super simple guide to installing the browser helper that sends your Canvas assignments straight into your FocusUp Quest Log. Just follow the pictures!

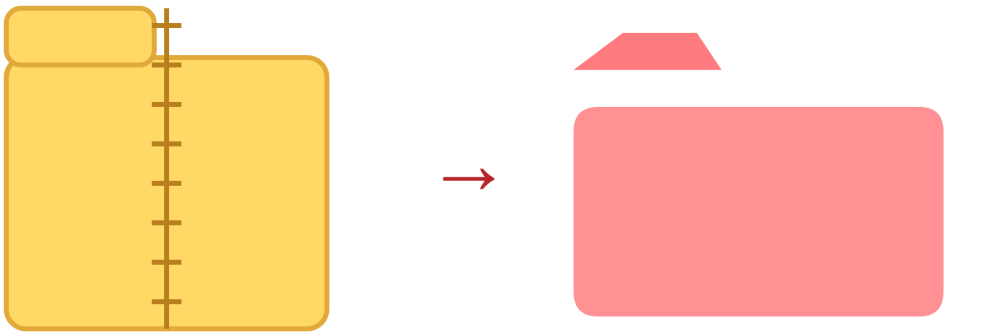

This file…	…is for
FocusUp-Canvas-Chrome.zip	Chrome, Microsoft Edge, or Brave
FocusUp-Canvas-Firefox.xpi	Firefox

> Only need Chrome, Edge, or Brave? Skip straight past the Firefox part below — you don't need FocusUp-Canvas-Firefox.xpi at all.

Part 1 · Chrome, Edge, or Brave

1. Find FocusUp-Canvas-Chrome.zip (it's probably in your Downloads folder). Double-click it. A brand-new folder pops up right next to it, called FocusUp-Canvas-Chrome.

Double-click the zip file to open it

FocusUp-Canvas-Chrome
(a brand-new folder appears)

Double-clicking FocusUp-Canvas-Chrome.zip makes the FocusUp-Canvas-Chrome folder.

2. Drag that new FocusUp-Canvas-Chrome folder somewhere safe, like your Documents folder. Important: don't delete it or move it again later — your browser will keep using it, even after everything is set up.

3. Open your browser. Look for a little puzzle piece icon near the top right, and click it. Then click Manage extensions at the bottom of the list that pops up.

4 On the Extensions page, turn on the Developer mode switch. New buttons will appear — click Load unpacked.

5 A window pops up asking you to pick a folder. Find and click the FocusUp-Canvas-Chrome folder (the one from Step 1), then click Select Folder.

6 That's it! You should now see a FocusUp for Canvas card on the page — that means it's installed and working.

You did it! It's installed!

> Double check: the FocusUp card should show the ID nkoidnlhkikljdedbcmjahoddmiafopo. If it shows a different ID, you probably have an old copy loaded — remove it and load the FocusUp-Canvas-Chrome folder again.

Part 2 · Sign in (do this for every browser)

1. Go to your school's Canvas website in a normal tab, then click the FocusUp icon up in the toolbar.

2. Sign in with Sign in with Apple, or type in your FocusUp email and password — the same account you use in the FocusUp app on your phone. (If you used Apple, a new tab opens — finish signing in there, then click the FocusUp icon again.)

3 Click Enable Auto-Sync. Say yes if your browser asks for permission. You only ever have to do this once per Canvas site.

4 Open FocusUp on your phone — your upcoming assignments should now be sitting in your Quest Log, like magic!

After that, it keeps syncing by itself every time you visit Canvas, and about every 10 minutes while your browser is open. You don't have to do anything else.

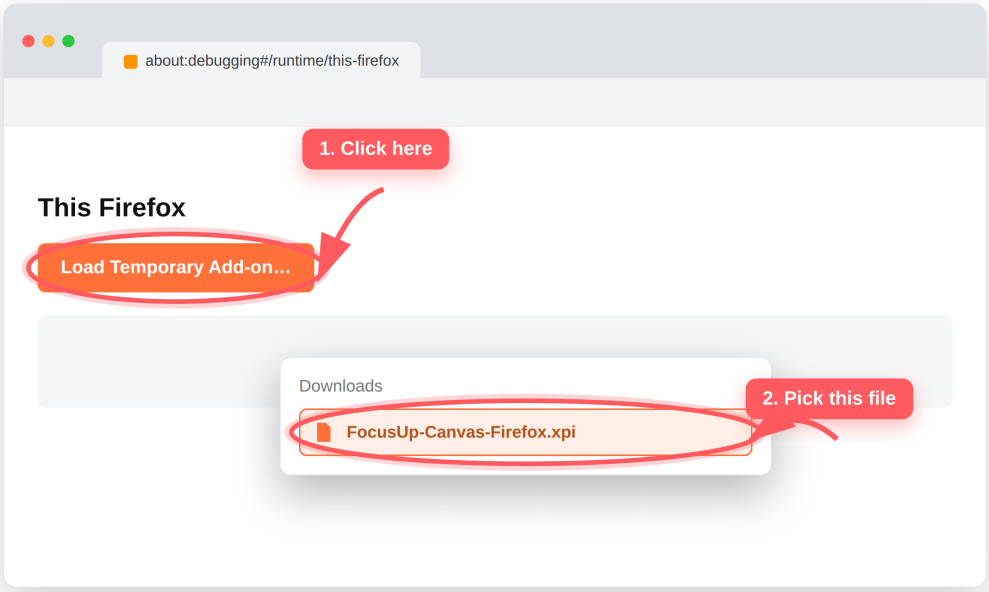

Using Firefox instead?

Firefox works a little differently — no unzipping needed, you just load FocusUp-Canvas-Firefox.xpi directly.

1. Save FocusUp-Canvas-Firefox.xpi somewhere you can find it, like Downloads. Firefox might say it "could not be installed because it has not been verified" — that's expected, just make sure the file is saved.

2. Type this into the address bar and press Enter: about:debugging#/runtime/this-firefox

3. Click Load Temporary Add-on… and pick FocusUp-Canvas-Firefox.xpi.

> Firefox forgets temporary add-ons when it closes, so you'll need to load FocusUp-Canvas-Firefox.xpi again the next time you open Firefox. Ask Scott if you'd rather have a version that stays installed for good.

Once it's loaded, do the sign-in steps in Part 2 above.

Getting a newer version later

Chrome / Edge / Brave: unzip the new FocusUp-Canvas-Chrome.zip into the same spot (say yes when it asks to replace files), then click the little reload arrow on the FocusUp card on the Extensions page.

Firefox: just load the new FocusUp-Canvas-Firefox.xpi the same way as before.

Something not working?

Sign in with Apple isn't working	Double-check the FocusUp card's ID matches nkoidnlhkikljdedbcmjahoddmiafopo (see Part 1). If it does and it still fails, just text Scott — something on his end may need a refresh.
Nothing shows up in the Quest Log	Open the FocusUp popup while you're on Canvas and make sure you're signed in and Auto-Sync is turned on. Then fully close and reopen FocusUp on your phone.
An assignment you already finished is still showing	It was probably imported before you turned it in — just check it off in the app. New syncs skip anything already submitted.
The extension disappeared from Firefox	That's normal for the temporary version — Firefox removes it when it closes. Just load FocusUp-Canvas-Firefox.xpi again.
